Cervical vs. Lumbar Disc Herniation

Cervical disc herniation typically affects the exiting nerve root

Lumbar disc herniation typically affects the traversing nerve root

- ex. C5/6 disc herniation affects C6 nerve root
- ex. L4/5 disc herniation affects the L5 nerve root

In both cases, the spinal nerve typically affected by a disc herniation has the same number as the inferior vertebral level of the disc.